UNITED STATES
TARIFF RATES ON AGRICULTURAL PRODUCTS
(Revised)

By

C. F. Wells, Agricultural Economic Statistician

INTRODUCTION

Period Covered- For each agricultural rate of duty, import tax, and processing tax, this report presents a complete history from September 22, 1922, the effective date of the 1922 Tariff Act, to the end of May 1951, the date of completion of this report. The latest changes in tariffs that became effective during this period were those negotiated at Annecy, France, with 10 countries in October 1949; those that resulted from the termination effective December 11, 1950, of part of the United States concessions in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade which were initially negotiated with China, and those that resulted from the termination effective January 1, 1951 of the Trade Agreement with Mexico. The changes in United States tariffs on agricultural products that were negotiated at Torquay, England, between September 1950 and April 1951 had not become effective by the end of May 1951 and are not included in this report.

Status of the Tariff Information Given in This Report

The import duties and other tariff information given in this publication, although compiled from official sources and believed to be accurate, are presented for informational purposes only and do not constitute authority as to the rate of duty legally applicable to any given imported article. In the case of articles not named in the Tariff Acts and in the case of any other article concerning which there is doubt as to the applicable rate of duty, a request for a definitive ruling should be addressed to the Bureau of Customs, Washington, D. C.

Commodities Covered- With minor exceptions this report mentions all of the agricultural products that are specifically named in either the Tariff Acts, the Revenue Acts, or the various Reciprocal Trade Agreements. In the 1930 Tariff Act, Schedule 7, ("Agricultural Products and Provisions") alone contains 416 named items. In addition, this tabulation includes certain items from Schedules 1, 5, 6, 8, 9, 10, 11, and 16 of that Act. But many agricultural products are dutiable under the Tariff Act even though they are not specifically named in the Act, for unless a non-enumerated article is classified as on the free list, it is necessarily dutiable under one of the so-called "basket-clauses" in the dutiable list. There are 47 of these "basket clauses" in Schedule 7 alone of the 1930 Tariff Act.

The Bureau of the Census classifies all commodities entering into the foreign trade of the United States into 10 economic classes. Five of these classes are for agricultural products only. With the exceptions given below, this report gives the tariff status of all of the commodities included in four out of the five agricultural classes, namely for the commodities in:-

Class 0 - "Agricultural crude materials."
Class 2 - "Agricultural crude foodstuffs."
Class 4 - "Agricultural manufactured foodstuffs and beverages."
Class 6 - "Agricultural semimanufactures."

Tariff rates are not given for any commodities in Class 8 - "Agricultural finished manufacutres" as this class includes only a few farm products of minor importance. Neither are tariff rates given for spices, most of which are in classes 0 and 4; raw rubber (class 0); drugs (mostly class 0); nursery and greenhouse stock (class 0); and beverages other than fruit juice many of which are in class 4.

On the other hand, duties and taxes are given on certain nonagricultural semimanufactures-fish oils, for instance-because they are competitive with agricultural fats and oils.

Nature of the Historical Rates Given.

From time to time, changes in the tariff classification of various commodities are made by administrative or judical decisions. If the commodity whose tariff classification is changed is one that is named specifically in either Tariff Act or in any reciprocal trade agreement, the change in classification is shown in the text tables. Changes in the tariff classification of commodities not so named (transfers of unnamed items from one basket clause to another) are not shown in the tables but in some cases they are shown in footnotes to the tables.

The historical rates shown in this publication in the case of such unnamed items are those actually assessed on specified commodities on the dates rather than the rates that would have applied to those commodities at those dates under the latest administrative or judicial decision as to the proper tariff classification of those commodities.

Duties and Excise Taxes Listed.

All import duties imposed on agricultural products by the Tariff Acts of 1922 and 1930 are listed. In addition, the following taxes, although they are not a part of any tariff act, are listed in this report because they are protective in their effect, that is, they apply to the imported product and there is no equal tax on any competitive domestic product.

(1) The excise tax on the first domestic processing of certain imported fats and oils provided for in I.R.C. section 2470.

(2) The excise tax on imports of certain fats and oils, fatty acids and salts derived from these, and combinations of them and oilseeds provided for in I.R.C. section 2491.

(3) The internal revenue tax of 15¢ per pound on imported oleomargarine and adulterated butter imposed under I.R.C. section 2306.

On the other hand, all taxes on imports which are merely intended to compensate for equal taxes on competitive domestic products are omitted. Therefore, the import tax on manufactured sugar provided for in I.R.C. section 3500 is not described in this report.

Finally, no "fees" on imports of certain agricultural products provided for in Section 22 (b) of the Agricultural Adjustment Act as amended have been imposed to date and they are therefore not described in this report.

Other Types of Information Not Covered.

Quarantines on agricultural products are not listed in this report. Details concerning the changes in the list of fats, oils, and oil-bearing materials that are subject to import controls under the authority described below are not given in this report. The information on import quotas is incomplete as only the more important tariff quotas and absolute quotas are described in this report. The Tariff Acts provide for various kinds of additional duties which may be applied under certain specified conditions, such as countervailing duties, antidumping duties, duties on convict-made goods, etc. This report does not contain any of these contingent duties.

Temporary exemptions of dutiable agricultural products from the payment of duty under the following and under certain other provisions of law have usually not been included because of their limited importance:-

Section 318 of the Tariff Act of 1930 providing for free entry of food, clothing, and other supplies used in emergency relief work.

Emergency war purchases of dutiable goods were permited free entry under the following provisions of law:-

Under 34 U.S.C. 568 the Secretary of the Navy was authorized to make such purchases. Executive Order No. 9177 (T.D. 50651) effective May 30, 1942, extended this authority to the Secretary of War, the Secretary of the Treasury, the Secretary of Agriculture, and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation. Executive Order No. 9495 (T.D. 51151) extended this authority to the Maritime Commission and the War Shipping Administration.

Executive Order No. 9768 extended the authority to the Secretary of Commerce and Executive Order No. 9829 extended it to the Atomic Energy Commission. Executive Order No. 9903 (T.D. 51801) revoked this authority for the following agencies on their purchases imported on and after December 12, 1947— Secretary of Agriculture, Secretary of Commerce, the Maritime Commission and the Reconstruction Finance Corporation.

Reciprocal Trade Agreements

The Trade Agreements Act of June 12, 1934 (P. L. 316 - 73rd Cong.) added section 350 to the 1930 Tariff Act and authorized the President to negotiated with foreign countries for reductions in their import duties and for amelioration of other trade restrictions and to make reciprocal concessions. The Original Trade Agreements Act was to remain in effect for 3 years but Congress has extended it seven times, the latest extension was for 2 years beginning June 12, 1951. Under the Act, as extended, the President is directed to suspend, withdraw, or prevent any reduction of duty or other trade concessions on imports from the U.S.S.R. or other countries controlled by the Communist movement. Imports of certain furs from Russia and China are barred. The Act requires an escape clause in all reciprocal trade agreements to allow the United States to retire from agreements which threaten serious injury to domestic industries. Also included in the Act is a "peril point" provision, under which the President must justify a reduction in import duty below a point considered by the U. S. Tariff Commission to be injurious to industry.

The original act authorized the United States to make concessions of the following types:- (1) a reduction (or an increase) of not to exceed 50 percent of the existing duties, (2) the binding of an existing duty against an increase, or (3) the binding of the existing duty-free status of a commodity.

The meaning in (1) of the words "existing duties" in the original act was those existing on June 12, 1934, or duties which became effective after that date otherwise than by the trade-agreement procedure. The Act of July 5, 1945, amending and extending the Trade Agreements Act permitted reductions in United States import duties up to 50 percent of the rates in effect on January 1, 1945, including rates which had been reduced before that date even to the full 50 percent permissible under previous acts. Thus, after January 1, 1945 the Act as amended authorizes a total reduction of as much as 75 percent of the duties existing on July 12, 1934 in the case of those articles whose duties were reduced the full 50 percent permitted before January 1, 1945.

Under the Reciprocal Trade Agreements Act as amended, a concession with respect to an excise tax on imports may also take any of the above three forms. On the other hand, a concession with respect to an excise tax on the first domestic processing of an article may not take the form of a reduction in that tax but is limited to the binding of the processing tax status of an article (taxable or tax-free) against change.

Under Executive Order 10082 signed by the President October 5, 1949, and under two earlier Executive orders, an escape clause must be incorporated in all new trade agreements concluded by the United States. This clause provides that under certain specified conditions a tariff concession may be withdrawn or modified by the United States without terminating the agreement if the concession has resulted or threatens to result, in serious injury to the domestic industry concerned.

The Trade Agreements Act provides that all tariff concessions made by the United States in a trade agreement with any country, except Cuba, shall be extended to all other countries (whether or not they give the United States reciprocal tariff concessions) except those countries found to be discriminating against United States trade. The Act thus incorporates the unconditional most-favored-nation principle.

From the enactment of the Trade Agreements Act of 1934 until the start of negotiations for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade in Geneva, Switzerland, in April 1947, the United States had concluded separate trade agreements with 29 foreign countries. Agreements with 27 of those countries were still in effect when the negotiations at Geneva began.

(For an alphabetical list see Appendix III and for a chronological list see Appendix IV.)

Nineteen "negotiating units" representing 23 separate countries including the United States, participated at Geneva in the formulation of the mutilateral General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed on October 30, 1947.

The United States participated in the second multilateral tariff negotiation under the Trade Agreements Act at Annecy, France, from April to August 1949. The 23 original parties to the General Agreement and 11 additional countries that wished to join that agreement met for these negotiations. The results of the negotiations were embodied in the Annecy Protocol of Terms of Accession to the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade and the Annecy schedules of tariff concessions. By April 30, 1950, all of the 10 countries that completed their negotiations at Annecy except Uruguay had signed the protocol and United States concessions to those countries had gone into effect.

With the accession of the Annecy countries to the General Agreement the United States became a party to trade agreements under the Trade Agreements Act with 46 foreign countries. This includes 15 countries which are not parties to the General Agreement but with which the United States has bilateral agreements and 31 which are parties to the General Agreement. Of the 31 countries, 11 had pre-Geneva or pre-Annecy bilateral agreements with the United States which have been superseded either by the General Agreement as negotiated at Geneva or by the Annecy Protocol.

Most of the changes (other than legislative changes) that have been made in tariffs on agricultural products since 1922 have been made since 1934 under the Trade Agreements Act. All changes in United States import duties, excise taxes on imports, excise taxes on first domestic processing, and in the more important quotas, made to the date of this completion of this report under the Trade Agreements Act have been shown in the following text tables and appendices. Since, however, the tariff changes negotiated at Torquay, England, had not gone into effect by the date of completion of this report, those changes are not reflected in the following tables 1/.

1/ For each and every agricultural product whose United States Tariff status was affected at Torquay the following publication gives the rate of duty before and after Torquay:- "Torquay Tariff and Trade Conference" in Foreign Agricultural Circular No. FAP-C 3-51 issued May 9, 1951 by Office of Foreign Agricultural Relations, Washington 25, D. C.

The Tariff, Tax, and Quota Status of Philippine Products.

Prior to April 30, 1946, the tariff, import tax, and quota status of Philippine products was determined by section 301 of both the 1922 and 1930 tariff acts. Section 301 was repealed by section 511 of the Philippine Trade Act approved April 30, 1946. Under this act and the exclusive trade agreement between the United States and the Republic of the Philippines effective January 2, 1947, a new trade status for Philippine products was established. This new status was not modified by the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed at Geneva in October 1947 except in minor respects. The sections referred to below relate to sections in the Philippines Trade Act of 1946 unless otherwise indicated.

Prior to April 30, 1946, all Philippine products not containing foreign materials to the value of more than 20 percent of their total value that were imported directly under a through bill of lading into the United States were admitted free of duty under section 301 of both tariff acts.

Under the Philippine Trade Act of 1946 and the exclusive trade agreement between the United States and the Republic of the Philippines, any Philippine article[1] imported before July 4, 1954, is exempt from ordinary United States customs duties.

The tariff status of Philippine copra was not changed by the Philippine Trade Act of 1946. It is, and has been, duty-free in unlimited quantities from the Philippines and from all other countries.

In this period that act provides that articles imported into the United States from the Philippines that are not "Philippine Articles" under the above definition are subject to the same tariff treatment as like articles produced in, and imported from, any other foreign country (except Cuba).

Philippine vegetable oils processed in the United States were subject to the processing tax described in Appendix I, I.R.C. section 2470, both before and after the passage of the Philippine Trade Act of 1946. The Act guarantees that the processing tax on Philippine coconut oil will continue to be 2 cents per pound lower than on coconut oil from other countries.

Prior to the Philippine Trade Act of 1946, Philippine products were:-

1. Subject to the tax on imports of certain animal oils provided for in I.R.C. section 2491 (a). Appendix II.

2. Subject to the tax on imports of certain vegetable oils provided for in I.R.C. section 2491 (b). Appendix II.

3. Subject to the tax on imports provided for in I.R.C. section 2491 (c) of articles derived from oils taxable under (1) and (2).

1/ Defined as an article, the product of the Philippines, which is not produced with the use of materials imported into the Philippines which are products of any foreign country except the United States if the value of such imported materials was more than 20 percnet of the value of the article as imported into the United States.

4/ Subject to the tax on imports provided for in I.R.C. section 2491 (c) of articles derived from oils subject to a processing tax under I.R.C. section 2470. Appendix I.

5/ Subject to the tax on imports of manufactured sugar provided for in I.R.C. section 3500.

6/ Not subject to the 15 cents per pound internal revenue tax on imported oleomargarine provided for in I.R.C. section 2306 and on imported adulterated butter provided for in I.R.C. section 2327.

Under the Philippine Trade Act in the period from May 1, 1946, to July 3, 1953: "Philippine articles" became free of the first three of the above taxes but no exemption is allowed from the import tax prescribed by section 2491 (c) listed in (4) above.

"Philippine articles" also continue subject to the fifth tax listed above (manufactured sugar).

Finally, Philippine oleomargarine and adulterated butter became subject to the taxes listed in six above.

The quota status of Philippine products is as follows:

During the period from January 1, 1946, to July 3, 1954, both dates inclusive, the Philippine Trade Act of 1946 fixed the total amounts of the following "Philippine articles" which may be imported into the United States in any calendar year.

	Annual absolute quota
Sugars	952,000 tons of 2,000 lb. each of which not more than 56,000 tons of 2,000 lb. each may be refined sugars.
Rice (including rice meal, flour, polish, and bran)	1,040,000 lb.
Scrap tobacco and stemmed and unstemmed filler tobacco described in par. 602, 1930 Tariff Act (combined weight)	6,500,000 lb.
Coconut oil	200,000 tons

All of the above quota quantities are free of ordinary United States cuntoms duties when imported into the United States.

Tariff and Tax Status of Cuban Products

Some Cuban products are on the United States dutiable list but are permitted entry into the United States at rates of duty lower than the general rate applicable to similar articles produced in other countries. Prior to the first Reciprocal Trade Agreement with Cuba signed August 24, 1934, all Cuban products on the United States dutiable list were given a preferential reduction in their duties of 20 percent and in a few cases enjoyed preferential free entry in accordance with the policy of the Commercial Convention of 1902 between the United States and Cuba. Beginning in August 1934 various Trade Agreements between the United States and Cuba granted selected dutiable Cuban products preferential reductions in United States duties of more than 20 percent. In 1947, the Exclusive Agreement with Cuba (published on T.D. 51819) was negotiated at Geneva in connection with the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade (published in T.D. 51802). Both agreements were signed on October 10, 1947, and became effective provisionally on January 1, 1948. The Exclusive Agreement with Cuba made inoperative both the Commercial Convention of 1902 and all of the reciprocal trade agreements between the United States and Cuba made prior to January 1, 1948. Under the Exclusive Agreement with Cuba the only Cuban products that are accorded any preferential reduction in the applicable United States duties are those specifically provided for either in Part II of Schedule XX of the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade or in the "Key year list" which is Recital 9 of the President's Proclamation of January 1, 1948. The general 20 percent preferential reduction in United States duties in favor of Cuban products is no longer in effect; if no preferential reduction in United States duties is specifically provided for a Cuban product, it pays the same duty that a similar product produced in any other foreign country would pay. (T.D. 51819-Recital (15) (c)).

United States excise taxes on imports are subject to the same preferential reduction as are United States duties when applied to Cuban products (T.D. 48469--Approved August 4, 1936).

Authority to Control Imports of Certain Fats and Oils

Title III of the Second War Powers Act of 1942 as amended gave the President the authority to control imports of fats and oils, oil-bearing materials, fatty acids, butter, soap and soap powder upon a determination by the President that such controls are (a) essential to the acquisition or distribution of products in world short supply or (b) essential to the orderly liquidation of temporary surpluses of stocks owned or controlled by the Government. This authority has been continuous since originally enacted the latest extension July 1, 1951, by P.L. 590, signed June 30, 1950. P.L. 590 authorized controls on imports of fats and oils (except coconut oil) and oilseeds (except copra) and soap and soap powder.

The list of fats, oils, and oil-bearing materials actually placed under import control under this authority has been changed from time to time.

Abbreviations, Symbols and Effective Dates

* marks the rate in effect on the date of completion of this report.

% stands for the percent ad valorme, that is, the percent of the dutiable value.

Ab. stands for Abstract of a Treasury Decision.

Annecy stands for the Protocol of Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of 10 countries, which was negotiated at Annecy, France and which was opened for the signature of these countries on October 10, 1949.

C.D. stands for Customs Decision.

C.A.D. stands for Customs Appeals Decision.

G.A.T.T. stands for The General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed at Geneva, October 30, 1947.

I.R.C. stands for Internal Revenue Code.

n.e.s. stands for not elsewhere specified.

n.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for.

R.A. stands for Revenue Act.

T.A. stands for Trade Agreement.

T.D. stands for Treasury Decision.

The Tariff Act of 1922 became effective September 22, 1922.

The Tariff Act of 1930 became effective June 18, 1930.

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. G.A.T.T. stands for General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Annecy stands for the Protocol of Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of ten additional countries which was negotiated at Annecy, France, and which was opened for the signature of these countries on October 10, 1949. This date is the first date effective. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced tariff established by a trade agreement with one country applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines.

2/ Per pound of sugars, tank bottoms, etc., not per pound of sugar content of the same.

3/ Tariff rates on sugars, tank bottoms, sirups of cane juice, melada, concentrated melada, concrete and concentrated molasses, testing by the polariscope, not above 75 sugar degrees, and all mixtures containing sugar and water, testing by the polariscope above 50 sugar degrees and not above 75 sugar degrees are given in the column headed "not above 75 sugar degrees." The tariff rate on each additional sugar degree on these products (fractions of a degree in proportion) is given in the second column.

4/ Table on next page, "Sugar Act quotas on offshore sugars."

5/ The "import compensating tax on manufactured sugar" of 1/2 cent per pound of 96 degree sugar equivalent provided for in (I.R.C. sec. 3500) applies to sugar imported from all countries. This tax is not described in this report because this tax, taken by itself, is not protective in its effect even though the sugar program of which it is a part, taken as a whole, is protective in its effect since it raises the delivered cost of imported sugar more than it raises the cost of domestic sugar.

6/ These rates were not specified in the Geneva agreement, but were proclaimed pursuant to Article I of that agreement to prevent an increase in the margin of Cuban preference. Since Annecy rates on this item are the same as the rates under T.D. 51834 the latter are no longer necessary to carry out the objects of Article I and are suspended by T.D. 52476, Recital 10, effective 5/19/50.

7/ These rates are effective only during such time as Title II of the Sugar Act of 1948 or substantially equivalent legislation is in effect whether or not the quotas, or any of them, authorized by such legislation are being applied or are suspended.

8/ Under the Trade Agreement with Cuba of September 3, 1934, the reduction in the Cuban rate in that agreement was to terminate if and when the quota provisions in the Jones Costigan Act became inoperative. These quotas were suspended on September 12, 1939.

9/ The agreement was effective December 23, 1939 but the reduced rate on Cuban sugar applied to Cuban sugar imported on or after December 27, 1939. (T.D. 50051).

10/ Since November 15, 1935 there have been tariff quotas on Philippine sugar. See table on next page on "Tariff quotas on Philippine sugar."

Terminated or inoperative. See Appendix III for details.

1/ These quotas are absolute quotas on imports and do not refer to the special quotas on refined sugar. In each year they are the "initial quota", that is, the first quota established in that year, not the basic quota. These quotas were subject to change during the year and in most years were changes more than once. The first Sugar Act quota was imposed in May 1934 by the Jones-Costigan Sugar Act of 1934 and applied to the entire calendar year.

2/ Quotas were suspended from September 12 to December 31, 1939 inclusive (T.D. 49977 and 50051) and imports during 1939 exceeded the quota established.

3/ Quotas were suspended April 13, 1942 and 1942 quotas as established were not filled. Quotas were suspended until reestablished by the Sugar Act of 1948 for the calendar year 1948.

Table 2.- Tariff quotas on Philippine sugar

Item	Calendar years in which the quota was in effect	Quota per calendar year free of Tariff Act duty 1/	U. S. imports in excess of duty-free quota: Quantity permitted	U. S. imports in excess of duty-free quota: Duty per pound on over-quota imports
		Long tons

Refined sugar 2/	1936-1939	50,000	Any amount	3/ Full duty
Sugars 4/	1940-1945	5/850,000	Any amount	3/ Full duty
Sugars 6/	1946-7/3 1954	5/850,000	none	-

1/ But subject to the import compensating tax on manufactured sugar provided for in I. R. C. Sec. 3500.

2/ Under the Philippine Independence Act of 1934. (P. L. 127-73rd Congress 48 Stat. 456 approved March 24,1934.) The quota provisions in Sec. 6 took affect after the inauguration of the government of the Philippine Islands on November 15, 1935. From this date back to the date of the 1922 Tariff Act (9/22/22) there were no quota limitations on the duty-free entry of Philippine sugar.

3/ This is the general or full duty rate under Par. 501 shown in the text table on page 10 for sugar not the product of Cuba or of the Philippines.

4/ From Section 6(d) of "An Act to Amend the Philippine Independence Act of 1934", (P. L. 300-76th Congress, 53 Stat. 1226 approved August 7, 1939-T.D. 50043).

5/ Of which not over 50,000 long tons may be refined sugars.

6/ This quota was provided for by Section 211 of the Philippine Trade Act of 1946 (P. L. 371-79th Congress, 60 Stat. 141). The effective date is provided for in Section 512 of that Act. The quota quantity is free of ordinary tariff duty under Sec. 201 of the Act. The 1948 tariff quota on Philippine sugar in table 2 when converted on the basis of the average polarization of Philippine sugar in previous years is equivalent to the initial 1948 Philippine Sugar Act quota in table 1.

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed at Geneva on October 30, 1947. % means percent ad valorem. T.D. means Treasury Decision. The date is the first date effective. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced tariff on a product established by a trade agreement with one country applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately above, were 20 percent lower than the rates shown. After that date, if not shown separately, they are the same as the rates shown.

2/ The rate on this sugar is 75 percent of the rate on sugar of like degree not contained in sugar cane.

3/ Free of duty since September 22, 1922 but under P.L. 300, 76th Cong., exports from the Philippines to the U. S. were subject to a Philippine export tax. In the calendar year 1941 this tax was 5% of the full U.S. duty. P.L. 367, 77th Cong. (T.D. 50551) provided for its suspension during 1942, its reinstatement in 1943, and increased it by 5% of the duty per year to 15% of the full duty in 1945. It was repealed effective 5/1/46 by the Philippine Trade Act.

3/ Sugar Act Quotas:-Effective September 3, 1936 an absolute import quota on sirups and sugar mixtures was established under authority of the Jones-Costigan Sugar Act of 1934 as extended by Public Resolution 109. The Sugar Act of 1937 effective 9/1 confined the import quotas to liquid sugar not containing soluble nonsugar solids in excess of 6% of total soluble solids. This Act set the Cuban quota at 7,970,588 gallons and the quota for the Dominican Republic at 830,894 gallons. (Both in wine gallons of 72 percent total sugar content) with no quota for other foreign countries. These quotas were suspended between September 12 and December 31, 1939 and from April 13, 1942 until December 31, 1947. Their suspension was terminated January 1, 1948 by the Sugar Act of 1948 which restored the same quota quantities as under the Sugar Act of 1937. These quotas are still in effect.

4/ A compensating tax on imports in addition to the above duties applied to liquid sugars not containing soluble nonsugar solids (excluding any foreign substance that may have been added or developed in the product) equal to over 6% of total soluble solids, testing less than 92 sugar degrees if not to be further refined or improved in quality. This tax is 0.5144 cents per pound of total sugars therein under section 403 (a) of the Sugar Act of 1937 approved September 1, 1937. (I.R.C. sections 3500 and 3507 (b)) This tax was extended to June 30, 1953 by the Sugar Act of 1948 (T.D. 51964).

5/ This reduced rate shall be effective only during such time as Title II of the Sugar Act of 1948 or substantially equivalent legislation is in effect in the U. S. whether or not the quotas, or any of them, authorized by such legislation, are being applied or are suspended.

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Annecy stands for the protocol of the Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of 10 additional countries, which was negotiated at Annecy, France, and which was opened for the signature of these countries on October 10, 1949. n.s.p.f. stands for "not specially provided for." A parenthesis around a rate means that the preceding rate is still in effect. The date is the first date effective. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban product, if not shown separately in the table were 20 percent lower than those shown. After that date, if not shown separately they are the same as shown.

2/ Imports of stemmed wrapper from Cuba are negligible.

3/ Cuba T.A. 9/3/34 provided that the total quantity (Unstemmed equivalent) of imports of dutiable tobacco and tobacco products from Cuba in any calendar year could not exceed 18 percent of the total quantity (unstemmed equivalent) of tobacco used in the manufacture of cigars in the United States during the preceding calendar year. This absolute quota was terminated on 3/16/36 by the termination of the domestic cigar-tobacco adjustment program.

4/ This is the general rate.

5/ Free of duty but subject to a Philippine tax on exports to the United States under P.L. 300, 76th Congress. This tax was equal to 5 percent of the full U.S. duty beginning with the calendar year 1941. P.L. 367, 77th Congress (T.D. 50551) suspended this tax during 1942, reinstated it during 1943, and increased it 5 percent per year to 15 percent in 1945. It was repealed as of 5/1/46 by the Philippine Trade Act.

3/ Since neither Latakia nor other cigarette leaf tobacco is imported from Cuba or from the Philippines only the general rates are given.
4/ So far as is known no stemmed cigarette leaf tobacco is imported.
5/ This is the date on which United States imports in that calendar year of Cuban filler tobacco unstemmed or stemmed (excluding cigarette leaf) and of Cuban scrap reach a combined total of 22 million pounds on an unstemmed equivalent basis.
6/ This rate was terminated on 5/19/50 by T.D. 52476 recital 10.

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. N.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for. The date is the first date effective. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines.

2/ The Cuban T.A. of 9/3/34 (T.D. 47232) provided that the total quantity (unstemmed equivalent) of U. S. imports of dutiable tobacco and tobacco products from Cuba in any calendar year could not exceed 18% of the total quantity (unstemmed equivalent) of tobacco used in the manufacture of cigars in the U. S. in the preceding calendar year. This absolute quota and the reduced duties were terminated on 3/16/36 by the termination of the domestic cigar-tobacco adjustment program. (T.D. 48225, 48267)

3/ The Cuban trade agreement effective 12/23/39 imposed the following tariff quota: The quota was 22,000,000 pounds (unstemmed equivalent) of imports of Cuban filler tobacco stemmed and unstemmed (excluding cigarette leaf tobacco) and of Cuban scrap tobacco in any calendar year after 1939. Imports after entry of that aggregate quantity were subject to 1930 Tariff rates less 20 percent. This quota was continued by the Cuban T.A. of 1/5/42. This quota was omitted by the Exclusive Cuban Trade Agreement of 1/1/48 (T.D. 51819).

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. G.A.T.T. stands for General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed at Geneva on October 30, 1947. The date is the first date effective. Except for concessions in trade agreements with Cuba the reduced tariffs established by a trade agreement with one country apply to the products of all foreign countries except the Philippines. A parenthesis around a rate means that a preceeding rate is still in effect. % stands for percent ad valorem. Prior to January 1, 1948 duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately above, were 20 percent lower than the rates shown. After that date, if not shown separately, they are the same as the rates shown.
2/ Beginning in January 1927 and continued by section 306 of the 1930 Tariff Act, the duties on the products on this page were in effect, superseded by an embargo against imports from countries where certain animal diseases were present.
3/ The reduced rate of 1.5 cents per lb. applied to cattle weighing under 175 lbs. each. Cattle weighing 175 lbs. but under 700 lbs. were unrestricted and were dutiable at 2.5 cents per lb.
4/ These are the emergency rates that were in effect during the life of the Mexican T.A. The quota rates that would have become effective if the emergency had been terminated during the life of the Mexican T.A. are not shown here since they never became effective and have been superseded by G.A.T.T. quotas and rates.
5/ These quotas and rates do not become effective until the emergency has been terminated--that is, until after the expiration of 30 days after the President (after the termination of the unlimited national emergency that was proclaimed on May 27, 1941) shall have proclaimed that the abnormal situation in respect of cattle and meats has terminated. This emergency had not been terminated on the date this report was completed.
6/ Head per year beginning April 1.
7/ Or in excess of 60,000 head in any calendar quarter year.
8/ The quota is for the year beginning April 1 and not more than 120,000 head may be entered in any quarter of this quota year.
9/ "Any animal imported for breeding purposes except black or silver foxes" free subject to the provisions of par. 1606 (a) and (b) of the 1930 Tariff Act.
10/ "And except asses and burros."

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. % stands for percent ad valorem. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. N.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for. A parenthesis around a rate means that the rate was established earlier and is still in effect. The date is the first date effective. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Annecy stands for the Protocol of Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of 10 additional countries, which was negotiated at Annecy, France, and which was opened for the signature of these countries on October 10, 1949. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately in the table were 20 percent lower than the rates shown. After that date, if not shown separately they are the same as the rates shown.

1/ Use note 1 on following page.

2/ Includes "cheddar in original loaves".

3/ Earlier rates that applied to this kind of cheese were as follows:
1922 Tariff par. 710 ("Cheese and substitutes") 5¢ per pound but not under 25%
1930 Tariff par. 710 ("Cheese and substitutes") 7¢ per pound but not under 35%

4/ It is not known that any of this kind of cheese is imported but if it is it would be dutiable at the rates given below for "other cheese".

5/ In addition to Sbrinz and Goya which are listed below in the table, the rate history is given in this note for the following six Italian type cheeses: Romano, Reggiano, Parmesano. Provoloni, Provolette, and Pecorino. Under the 1922 Tariff par. 710 all six cheeses, whether or not in original loaves were dutiable at 5¢ per pound but not under 25% ad valorem. Under the 1930 Tariff par. 710 all six whether or not in original loaves, were dutiable at 7 cents per pound but not under 35 percent. Under the Argentine T.A. effective 11/15/41 Provolette was not affected and stayed at the 1930 rate. The other 5 cheeses in original loaves were reduced to 5¢ per pound but not under 25%. These 5 cheeses if not in original loaves were not affected and stayed at 7¢ per pound but not under 35 percent. Under Annecy (T.D. 52476) all six cheeses in original loaves except Pecorino were reduced to, or bound at 5¢ per pound, but not under 25% effective 5/30/50 unless in fact they were made from sheeps milk and suitable for grating in which case they would have been dutiable at 3½¢ per pound but not less than 17½% effective 5/30/50. Pecorino in original loaves not suitable for grating stayed at 5¢ per pound but not under 25% under the Argentine T.A. of 1941. All six cheeses not in original loaves were dutiable as "other cheese" which was reduced to 5¢ per pound but not under 25% effective 5/19/50 by T.D. 52476.

1/ Note the discussion of the authority to limit imports of fats and oils in the introduction. I.R.C. stands for the Internal Revenus Code. T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. % stands for percent ad valorem. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. N.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for. The date is the first date effective. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately in the table, were 20 percent lower than the rates shown. After that date, if not shown separately, they are the same as the rates shown.

2/ See Appendix II, I.R.C. section 2491(a) for an additional import tax that applies to this oil.

3/ Though T.D. 47754(2) classified this oil under paragraph 34 as an advanced C.D. 949 approved 9/19/45 held certain fish-liver oils having the properties of a drug to be classifiable under par. 1669 as a crude drug free of duty. Customs administrative authorities continued after 9/19/45, however, to classify such oils under par. 34. (1948 Summary of Tariff Information Vol. 1 Par. 4 page 45).

4/ Recital 15 of T.D. 51819 declared Cuba T.A. of 1/5/42 to be inoperative. This together with the fact that T.D. 51819 excluded halibut liver oil from its provision for par. 34 caused the general rate under par. 34 to become applicable to halibut-liver oil the product of Cuba if classifiable under par. 34.

5/ Up to May 26, 1943, the date C.D. 773 was decided these oils were classified under par. 52 of the 1930 Tariff Act as all other fish oils. n.s.p.f. C.D. 773 held dogfish liver oil should be classified as an advanced drug of animal origin under par. 34 of the 1930 Tariff Act. On September 19, 1945, C.D. 949 was decided and held certain fish-liver oils to be free of duty under par. 1669 of the 1930 Tariff Act as a crude drug of animal origin. However T.D. 51417 approved March 8, 1946, instructed collectors of customs to continue to classify dogfish-liver oil and similar oils under par. 34 pending proposed additional litigation. In short, it appears that the practice had been to classify these oils under par. 52 up to May 26, 1943 and under paragraph 34 since that date. In view of the doubtful tariff status of these oils their rates are given both ways; A. under paragraph 52 and B. under paragraph 34 for the entire period covered by this report. Their rates if classified as free of duty under par. 1669 are not given because apparently very little of the period covered has seen this classification used.

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. % stands for percent ad valorem. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 25 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Annecy stands for the Protocol of Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of 10 additional countries, which was negotiated at Annecy, France, whose opening for signature was announced October 10, 1949. The date is the first date effective. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately in the table were 20 percent lower than those shown. After that date, if not shown separately they are the same as shown. Paragraph 731 of both Tariff Acts provides that when grains contain over 5% of any one foreign matter dutiable at a rate higher than that applicable to the grain the entire lot is dutiable at the higher rate.

2/ Public Laws 211 and 272, 78th Congress (T.D. 50983 and 51033) authorized the entry free of duty during the period 12/23/43 to 6/19/44 inclusive of barley it's derivatives, or products in chief value of any of these, if used for feed for livestock or poultry.

2/ The Canadian Trade Agreement of 1/1/36 reduced the rate on hulled oats unfit for human consumption from 16¢ to 8¢ per bushel. This classification was terminated by the Canadian Agreement of 1/1/39.

3/ Public Laws 211 and 272, 78th Congress (T.Ds. 50983 and 51033) authorized the entry free of duty during the period 12/23/43 to 6/19/44 inclusive of oats, its derivatives, or products in chief value of any of these, if used for feed for livestock or poultry. Public Law 272, 78th Congress (T.D. 51033) also authorized the entry free of duty of oats to be used for purposes of human consumption from March 30, 1944 to June 19, 1944 inclusive.

4/ Philippine rice was free of duty in unlimited quantities prior to 1/1/46. Beginning that date a quota of 1,040,000 pounds of rice (including rice meal, flour, polish, and bran) per calendar year was imposed on free imports of Philippine rice by the Philippine Trade Act of 1946. Imports in excess of the duty-free quota are not permitted. This duty-free quota is to continue to July 3, 1954. Though free of duty, Philippine rice exported to the United States was subject to a Philippine export tax under Public, 300, 76th Congress. This export tax was 5% of the full U. S. duty in the calendar year 1941. Public 367, 77th Congress (T.D. 50551) suspended this tax during 1942, reinstated it during 1943 and increased it 5% of the duty per year to 15% in 1945. It was repealed effective 5/1/46 by the Philippine Trade Act.

1/ Use note 1 on preceding page.
2/ Wheat imported for milling in bond and export in the form of flour is free of duty under Section 311 of both Tariff acts with the following exception. The 1930 Tariff Act provides that if the flour from imported wheat milled in bond is exported to Cuba, the wheat from which it was milled must pay a U.S. duty equal to the reduction in the Cuban duty enjoyed by flour produced in the United States compared to the Cuban duty on flour not produced in the U.S. (T.D. 52110) This provision for a duty on the imported wheat that is milled in bond and made into flour that is exported to Cuba is still in effect. The duty-free status of the imported wheat that is milled in bond and exported as flour to countries other than Cuba was bound by G.A.T.T. effective 1/1/48 in Part I of Schedule XX in the item entitled Section 311 of the 1930 Tariff Act.
3/ By proclamation of the President number 2489 (T.D. 50404) effective May 29, 1941 which was made under the authority of section 22 of the Agricultural Adjustment Act of 1933, as amended (7 U.S.C. 624) absolute quotas were established on imports for consumption of wheat and wheat flour fit for human consumption. The proclamation stated that no quota limitation was placed on wheat or wheat flour unfit for human consumption. The fixed annual quota on wheat was 800,000 bushels and the fixed annual quota on wheat flour was 4,000,000 pounds. In both cases the quota year began on May 29. The proclamation allocated these quotas to foreign countries. With certain minor exceptions published in T.Ds. 50609 and 50863, these quotas are still in effect.
4/ Under Executive Order 9177 effective May 30, 1942 (T.D. 50651) and Executive Order 94945 effective August 1, 1944 (T.D. 51151) considerable dutiable wheat was permitted free entry as emergency was purchases by U. S. Government agencies up to 1946. In addition Public laws 211 and 272, 78th Congress (T.Ds. 50983 and 51033) authorized the entry free of duty during the period 12/23/43 to 6/19/44 inclusive, of wheat, its derivatives, including feed flour or products in chief value of the foregoing if used for feed for livestock or poultry.
5/ Earlier rates were the same as rates on "wheat fit for human consumption".
6/ Wheat flour unfit for human consumption held dutiable as a non-enumerated manufactured article at 20% under par. 1558 of 1930 Tariff by T.D. 50917, 9/4/43. This rate is still in effect.

T.D. 52167, Recital 9, effective 3/16/49, limited the applicability of this 2.4¢ rate to dried beans, the product of Cuba, "if entered for consumption from September 1 to April 30 in any year or when withdrawn from warehouse for consumption at any time". The effect of this limitation was to delete the Cuban preferential rate of 2.4¢ per pound formerly applicable to Red Kidney and other dried beans, the product of Cuba, entered during the period May 1-August 31 in any year. This left these Cuban products subject to the general rates under G.A.T.T. or 2¢ in the case of Red Kidney and 1-1/2¢ in the case of other dried beans after 3/16/49.

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. The date is the first date effective. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately in the table were 20 percent lower than the rates shown. After that date, if not shown separately they are the same as the rates shown.

2/ The minimum annual tariff quota is 1,000,000 bushels of 60 lbs. each. If for any calendar year the production of white or Irish potatoes, including seed potatoes, in the United States, according to the estimate made as of September 1 by the United States Department of Agriculture, is less than 350,000,000 bushels (60 lbs. each), the Tariff quota for the 12-month period beginning on September 15 of that year is increased above the 1,000,000 bushels by a quantity equal to the amount by which such estimated production is less than 350,000,000 bushels. Cuban potatoes, including those entered when the current quota is not filled, are not to be charged against the quota.

3/ Under the Canadian T.A. of 1/1/39 the quota described in note 2 applied to the total of imports in both rate periods combined.

4/ The 350,000,000 bushels in note 2/ was reduced to 335,000,000 bushels for the quota year beginning September 15, 1950. (T.D. 52559).

2/ Certified seed potatoes are defined as potatoes certified by a responsible officer or agency of a foreign Government in accorcance with the official rules and regulations of that Government to have been grown and approved especially for use as seed in containers marked with the foreign Government's official certified seed potato tags.

3/ The quota years and quota quantities specified for seed potatoes in the various Trade Agreements were as follows:

Trade Agreement	12 month quota period beginning	Quota Quantity Bu. of 60 lbs. each
Canada T.A. 1/1/36#	Dec. 1 in any year	750,000
Canada T.A. 1/1/39#	Sept. 15 in any year	1,500,000
G.A.T.T. 1/1/48	Sept. 15 in any year	2,500,000

4/ The Cuban T.A. of 9/3/34#, specified "White or Irish potatoes" in par. 771. The Cuban T.A. of 12/23/39#, by specifying in par 771 "white or Irish potatoes other than seed potatoes" terminated the applicability to seed potatoes of the 50 % minimum preferential reduction in the U.S. duty on potatoes granted to Cuban potatoes in the Cuban T.A. of 9/3/34#. This change brought into operation a provision of the Canadian T.A. of 1/1/39# in par. 771 to the effect that "if and when the U. S. is no longer obligated to accord Cuban seed potatoes a preferential reduction of more than 20%, the general rate of duty on seed potatoes shall be 37.5¢ per 100 lbs. during the entire year."

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. % stands for percent ad valorem. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Annecy stands for the Protocol of Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of 10 additional countries, which was negotiated at Annecy, France, and which was opened for the singnature of these countries on October 10, 1949. The date is the first date effective. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately in the table were 20 percent lower than those shown. After that date, if not shown separately they are the same as shown. Fruits and vegetables in their natural state if the product of Cuba, any of the foregoing which are of a class or kind which would have been entitled to preferential exemption from duty or import tax if imported into the United States on April 10, 1947, as products of Cuba, are free of duty and import tax under G.A.T.T. T.D. 51819 beginning 1/1/48.

2/ The Annecy Agreement (under the terms of the note in Pt. II of Schedule XX of Annex A to the Annecy Protocal of Accession (T.D. 52373) which makes paragraph 2 (c) (ii) of the Exclusive Agreement with Cuba-(as given in the President's Proclamation of 1/1/48-T.D. 51819) applicable to all items listed in said Pt. II of Schedule XX) provides that any product of Cuba listed in Pt. II of Schedule XX of that agreement shall be entitled upon importation into the United States to a margin of preference in the applicable rate of duty equal to the absolute margin of Cuban preference existing on April 10, 1947. In the case of tomatoes prepared or preserved including tomatoes prepared or preserved including tomato past that margin was 5%.

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. N.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for. A parenthesis around a rate means that the rate was established earlier and is still in effect. The date is the first date effective. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Annecy stands for the Protocol of Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of 10 additional countries, which was negotiated at Annecy, France, and which was opened for the signature of these countries on October 10, 1949. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately in the table were 20 percent lower than the rates shown. After that date, if not shown separately they are the same as the rates shown.

1/ T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. N.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for. The date is the first date effective. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Annecy stands for the Protocol of Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of 10 additional countries, which was negotiated at Annecy, France, and which was opened for the signature of these countries on October 10, 1949. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Philippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately in the table were 20 percent lower than the rates shown. After that date, if not shown separately they are the same as the rates shown.

2/ Bound free of tariff, excise tax on imports, and excise tax on first processing in the United States during the life of the agreement.

Section 2491.	*3

1/ Note the discussion of the authority to limit imports of fats and oils in the introduction. The excise taxes described in this table are not on the importation of the article but on its first domestic processing which is defined as the first use in the United States in the manufacture or production of an article intended for sale, of the article with respect to which the tax is imposed. There was no such domestic processing tax prior to the earliest date given. R.A. stands for Revenue Act, I.R.C. stands for the Internal Revenue Code. T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. % stands for percent ad valorem. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. N.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for. A parenthesis around a rate means that the rate was established earlier and is still in effect. The date is the first date effective. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Annecy stands for the Protocol of Terms of Accession to G.A.T.T. of 10 additional countries, which was negotiated at Annecy, France, and which was opened for the signature of these countries on October 10, 1949. 1/ Note the discussion of the authority to limit the imports of oils and fats in the introduction. The excise taxes described in this table are on the importation of the article, not on its first domestic processing. The import taxes are collected by customs officers and are in fact, import duties. These import tax rates and tariff rates could not, however, be combined in a single table but are necessarily shown in separate tables because the statutory classification descriptions of products subject to import tax are usually unlike the nearest comparable tariff act classification descriptions and in some cases provide for products covered by many tariff act classification descriptions. R.A. stands for Revenue Act. I.R.C. stands for the Internal Revenue Code. T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. N.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for. A parenthesis around a rate means that the rate was established earlier and is still in effect. The date is the first date effective. 1/ Note the discussion of the authority to limit imports of fats and oils in the introduction. The excise taxes described in this table are on the importation of the article, not on its first domestic processing. The import taxes are collected by customs officers and are in fact, import duties. These import tax rates and tariff rates could not, however, be combined in a single table but are necessarily shown in separate tables because the statutory classification description of products subject to import tax are usually unlike the nearest comparable tariff act classification descriptions and in some cases provide for products covered by many tariff act classification descriptions. R.A. stands for Revenue Act. I.R.C. stands for Internal Revenue Code. T.A. stands for Trade Agreement. % stands for percent ad valorem. T.D. stands for Treasury Decision. N.s.p.f. stands for not specially provided for. A parenthesis around a rate m means that the rate was established earlier and is still in effect. The date is the first date effective. G.A.T.T. stands for the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade signed by 23 countries at Geneva on October 30, 1947. Except in agreements with Cuba a reduced duty on a product established by a trade agreement with one country also applies to that product if from any other foreign country except the Phillippines. Prior to January 1, 1948, duties on Cuban products, if not shown separately in the table, were 20 percent lower than the rates shown. After that date, if not shown separately, they are the same as the rates shown. Prior to the Philippine Trade Act of 1946 effective May 1, 1946. United States imports of Philippine fats and oils were subject to the import taxes imposed by I.R.C. sections 2491 (a) and (b) and (c). (I.R.C. section 2493 (3)). Under the Philippine Trade Act the import tax provided by I.R.C. section 2491 (c) continues to apply to Philippine products if they are derived from oils taxable under I.R.C. section 2470 But import taxes under I.R.C. section 2491 (c) no longer apply to other Philippine articles and import taxes under I.R.C. sections 2491 (a) and 2491 (b) no longer apply to any Philippine article. 2/ The description of this article in the 1936 R. A. section 701 which became effective 8/21/36 included the following words: "whether or not refined, sulphonated, sulphated, hydrogenated, or otherwise processed." The provisions and rates of the 1936 R.A. were reenacted by sections 702 of the 1938 R.A. effective July 1, 1938. 3/ All sesame oil and all sunflower seed oil was subject to a 3¢ processing tax under the 1934 R.A. (I.R.C. section 2470) from 5/10/34 until the 1936 R.A. section 701 (I.R.C. section 2491 (b) became effective 8/21/36 under which act sesame oil free under par. 1732 and all sunflower seed oil was subject to the import tax under I.R.C. section 2491 (b) but not subject to the processing tax. 4/ Effective 7/1/38 section 702 (F) of 1938 R.A. (I.R.C. sec. 2491) (f)) provided that the 4 1/2 cent import tax does not apply to rapeseed oil imported to be used in the manufacture of rubber substitutes or lubricating oil.
